Some sources claim that an estimated 90% of West Africa's rainforest has been destroyed. Africa lost the highest percentage of tropical rainforests of any continent between the 1980s and the early 2000s. One contributing factor to Africa's high level of deforestation is its population's dependence on wood as a fuel for heating and cooking. [Where Are Rainforests Located? #### Tropical Africa - Wikipedia

Although tropical Africa is mostly familiar to the West for its rainforests, this ecozone of Africa is far more diverse. While the tropics are thought of as regions with warm to hot moist climates caused by latitude and the tropical rain belt, the geology of areas, particularly mountain chains, and geographical relation to continental and
